

Washington with experts

One of the world's major capitals, Washington, D.C., is filled with history and memorable sights. For the visiting tourist or businessman, the city is so large and the sights are so numerous, the Washington experience can be bewildering. Where to start?

Capital Cultural Connections is here to help and guide you on your visit.

Foreign dignitaries, traveling professionals, corporate boards, family groups, convention programs and even individuals have all called upon CCC to give them personalized introductions to the Nation's Capital. Expert Excursion Specialists design and conduct a "Washington experience" in close consultation with the client.

CCC has more to offer than just simple sightseeing excursions, too. CCC Excursion Specialists have special expertise in things as varied as art museums, food and restaurants, performing arts, local history, architectural symbolism, and many other things. Excursions, lectures, and experiences also can be arranged in languages other than English. In fact, CCC has regular docents who are fluent in over a dozen languages, with over 40 languages available by arrangement through CCC's translation services division.

Here are some of the sites and neighborhoods which you can expect to see on a excursion (excursions can be easily customized upon request):

Embassy Row	Independence Ave.	Vietnam War Memorial
The White House	Jefferson Memorial	Korean War Memorial
Pennsylvania Ave.	Smithsonian Institution	World War II Memorial
Capitol Hill	Washington Monument	Arlington National Cemetery
Supreme Court	Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial	Einstein Monument
Library of Congress	Lincoln Memorial	Islamic Center

We train all of our Excursion Specialists to be flexible and attentive to the needs of the client. That means also that the Excursion Specialists can amend the route of the excursion to accommodate the needs or desires of the delegation. Excursions range anywhere from three hours to a full day.

I hope that you will find this information useful. I would like to schedule a follow-up phone call at your convenience to answer any questions you may have. Please take a look at our PowerPoint presentation, which can be found on our website at:
